

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5 A programming implementation providing support for reusable software units built in a hierarchical and modular form. The implementation includes a repository of the reusable software units, where each are arranged to behave independently, communicate transparently, and facilitate creation of new reusable software units.